

Develop Javascript to Implement Menus.

```
<html>
<head>
  <title>Branch Selection</title>
</head>
<body>
  Select Your Branch:
  <select name="Branch" id="Options">
    <option value="if">IF</option>
    <option value="cm">CM</option>
  </select>
  <select name="Class" id="Classes">
    <option value="fy">FY</option>
    <option value="sy">SY</option>
    <option value="ty">TY</option>
  </select>
  <input type="button" value="Click" onclick="Changed()">
  FY
  SY
  TY
<script>
function Changed() {
var branch = document.getElementById("Options");
var value = branch.options[branch.selectedIndex].value;
if (value == "if") { document.getElementById("fy").innerText = "FYIF";
document.getElementById("sy").innerText = "SYIF";
document.getElementById("ty").innerText = "TYIF";
}
else {
document.getElementById("fy").innerText = "FYCM";
document.getElementById("sy").innerText = "SYCM";
document.getElementById("ty").innerText = "TYCM";
}
}
</script>
</body>
</html>
```

Select Your Branch:

IF FY Click

FY

SY

TY

Select Your Branch:

CM
FY Click

FYCM

SYCM

TYCM

```
<html>
<head>
  <title>Language Selection</title>
</head>
<body>
```

```
<label>Select the language: </label>
<select name="Subjects" id="Options">
  <option value="c">C</option>
  <option value="cpp">CPP</option>
  <option value="java">Java</option>
</select>
<input type="button" value="Display" onclick="Display()" "> <script>
function Display() {
var element = document.getElementById("Options");
var value = element.options[element.selectedIndex].text;
window.alert("You have selected: " + value);
}
</script>
</body>
</html>
```

Select the language:

C

Display

You have selected: C

Close

You have selected: CPP

Close

You have selected: Java

Close